

To whom it may concern,

Thanks to NJ do not call list I rarely receive any solicitors at all. It is a welcome relief. When my son was born back in 1999, I stayed home with him. I was inundated with telemarketers and people (sometimes unscrupulous) looking for money for charities. I used to get 20 calls a day. Now that I am home with 3 kids, it is a nice quiet environment and no more harassing phone calls. Do not change NJ's policies against phone solicitors. No one wants them at all. There are plenty of other ways to offer products, and phone calls are not the way to go. Also, these people prey on elderly people who are often lonely and can be easily taken advantage of. Thank you and please realize this is a quality of life issue.

Sincerely, Kristen Reuter
